

TOURS WILL BE LIKE CAMPAIGN TRIPS

Roosevelt Will Make Two "Swings Around the Circle" Worthy of Presidential Candidate. Gives Out Itineraries.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 14.—Theodore Roosevelt gave out to-day the itineraries of the two speaking tours he is soon to make—one into the West late in the summer; the other through the South in the early fall. The two tours will resemble a campaign trip by a presidential candidate, for Colonel Roosevelt will not only make as many set speeches as his traveling card permits, but he probably will deliver extemporaneous talks from the rear end of his private car. For the first trip a car has already been chartered. The Western trip will begin on August 25 and will end on September 11. The Southern trip will extend from October 6 to October 12. The itineraries follow: Western trip—August 25, leaving New York; August 27, arrives Cheyenne; August 29, Denver; August 31, Osawatimie, Kansas; September 2, Omaha; September 3, Sioux Falls, S. D.; September 5, Fargo, N. D.; September 6, St. Paul; September 7, Milwaukee; September 8, Peoria, Ill.; and Chicago; September 10, Pittsburgh; September 11, arrive New York.

Southern trip—October 6, leave New York; October 8, Atlanta, Ga.; October 10, Hot Springs, Arkansas; October 12, Peoria, Ill.; October 13, speak in Indiana for Senator Beveridge at a place not yet chosen.

The itineraries were completed to-day. Urgent requests for "a few words" have come by hundreds from political organizations, clubs and schools and personal friends. The most of these Colonel Roosevelt has been obliged to decline, and, in announcing his program to-day, he said he wished to make it understood clearly that he could consider no further invitations. Already he has been compelled to refuse many that he wished to accept.

At Chicago, Colonel Roosevelt will speak before the Hamilton Club. At Milwaukee he speaks before the Press Club. The first address of the Southern trip will be on Uncle Remus Day, named in memory of Joel Chandler Harris, who in his lifetime was a warm friend. The Peoria speech will be before the Knights of Columbus, a Roman Catholic organization.

The place for the Indiana speech, in support of Senator Beveridge, will depend upon the exigencies of the political situation. There were no political conferences to-day at Sagamore Hill. The colonel was busy with his editorial work and his voluminous correspondence.

plained, or explained, that he left Danville on Tuesday as "plain Ned Moseley." He reached Richmond and became "Dr. Moseley" at Norfolk he was yclept "Judge" Moseley, and to-day, he said, "I see by The Times-Dispatch that I have become the Rev. Moseley."

It is the consensus of opinion that the gentleman of many titles is modestly delighted.

The finance committee reported a substantial balance to the credit of the association, occasioned by the initiation fees of twenty new members.

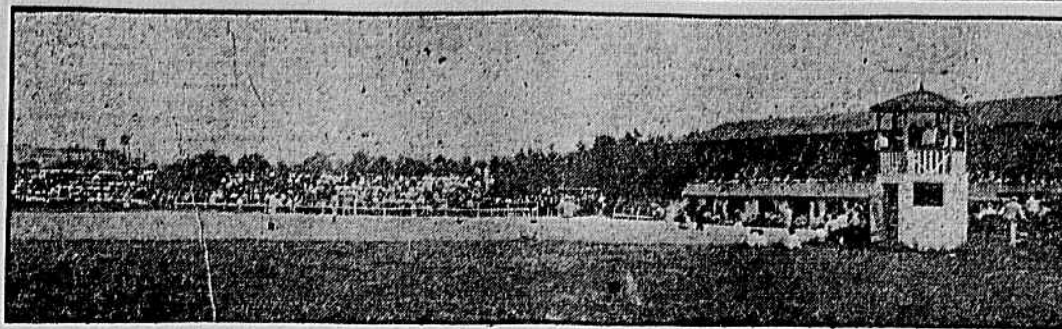

C. B. Cooke, of Richmond, caused applause by announcing that he would guarantee fifty new members for next year.

W. Clement, of Appomattox, discussed the question of higher rates for printing court notices, showing that county papers were forced to take this class of business without chance of profit. The matter was left to a committee composed of Messrs. Gravelly Cooke, of Waynesboro, and Lofton.

Resolutions Adopted. A resolution of sympathy was sent to the family of the late Senator Daniel, and resolutions of thanks were addressed to the Business Men's Club of Norfolk, the Norfolk and Southern Railroad, the city of Richmond, and the newspapers of Richmond for courtesies extended the members of the association. A letter of sympathy was ordered to be sent to Rev. R. H. Beasley, of South Boston, for many years chaplain and treasurer of the association, who was not able to attend this meeting on account of the illness of his wife.

C. B. Cooke spoke in praise of the New Officers Elected. The committee on nominations then presented its report, naming the following officials to serve for one year: President, C. J. Campbell, of Amherst; Vice-President, W. E. Addison, of Lynchburg News; Secretary, J. L. Hart, Farmville Herald; Treasurer, E. G. Moseley, Danville Methodist; Historian, Miss Bertha Gray Robinson, Orange Observer.

Executive Committee—C. B. Cooke, Richmond Journal; Lucian Lofton, Emporia Independent; M. T. Harrison, Bedford Democrat; C. O. Green, Clifton Forge Review; R. H. Barham, Petersburg Index-Appel.

National Committeeman, John Stewart Bryan, Richmond News Leader.

Delegates to National Editorial Association—M. Botts Lewis, Bristol Herald-Courier; A. S. Gravelly, Henry Bulletin; L. T. D. Quinby, Accomac News; W. S. Copeland, Newport News Times-Herald; Allen Potts, Times-Dispatch; W. R. Rowe, Irvington Virginia Citizen.

The meeting then adjourned. Among the new arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby, of Accomac, and John Spencer, of Newport News.

The trip back to Williamsburg Spit was made in fast time, the Maury arriving at 6:30 P. M. The night was spent at Ocean View, where the party was entertained by the newspaper men of Norfolk.

To-morrow the members of the association will make the trip to Tangier Island and Onancock, where they will then be entertained by the people of that place.

The trip has not only been delightful, but business of importance has been accomplished. Judge Campbell, in accepting the position of president, declared that the press of Virginia could accomplish all manner of good if the members will only stand together. He declared that good schools, good roads and industrial and agricultural advancement in the State are largely due to the press, and he pledged the support of the association for the welfare of Virginia.

The Virginia Journal of Education was represented by R. L. Blanton, and when the boat reached Willoughby and the roll was called, it was discovered that the members of Danville, and A. S. Morton, of Staunton, were missing. They did not fall overboard, but were left at Yorktown, where they were examining the skyscrapers. They are now among the oldest inhabitants of the historic village of Yorktown.

AMUSEMENTS. Academy—Benjamin Players. Rush at the Finish. The management of the Benjamin Players at the Academy of Music has requested patrons of the stock company who have had seats for Saturday night reserved at the box office to call for them before 6 o'clock to-night, as the sale for the final performance is very heavy, and it is the desire of the management that every one shall be pleased and satisfied. There is also a heavy sale of seats for the matinee performance, when souvenir photographs of Miss Carroll McCormack will be given away to every ticket holder.

REUNION AT FRONT ROYAL. Old Soldiers Hold Great Rally—Orator by Cyclone Jim Marshall. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

From Royal, Va., July 14.—A rally day and reunion of Confederate veterans took place to-day, with one of the largest crowds in attendance that Front Royal has ever seen. The orator of the day was Cyclone Jim Marshall, of Southwest Virginia.

At the conclusion of the exercises a sham battle was held between the veterans and Company D, Virginia volunteer command, Lieutenant S. Gardner Walker, which showed at its conclusion a victory for the veterans.

To-night a real wartime campfire was held on the edge of the town.

FOUR WINDS RECEIVE ASHES OF VENABLE

In Accordance With His Wishes, They Are Scattered in Druid Hill Park—Last Duty Performed by Relatives.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Baltimore, Md., July 14.—The ashes of the late Major Richard M. Venable were scattered to the four winds this morning in Druid Hill Park.

In his last letter of directions Major Venable instructed that his body be cremated without religious services, and in another letter to his law partner, Charles McHenry Howard, he charged his relatives and friends with the duty of taking the ashes to Druid Hill Park and scattering them.

The directions were fulfilled by Mr.

Howard and Major Venable's niece and nephew, Miss Susan Venable and W. H. Venable, both of Norfolk.

Mr. Howard, Mr. Venable and Miss Venable left the Roland Park house at Goodwood Gardens and Oakdale Road early this morning and went to Druid Hill Park, which was one of Baltimore's parks in which Major Venable took great interest, and his last request about the disposal of his ashes seemed to have been the result of one of his sentimental moments.

on governing in the interest of the few against the many. The time has come for a change."

In Interest of Railroads. The administration railroad bill as it was sent to Congress, Senator Overman declared, was largely in the interest of the railroads. He added that after attack and revision by the Democrats and Insurgents it took on some good features. The court provision of the measure he criticized, declaring it was an outrage upon the American people. The postal savings bank bill he attacked as the first step toward a central bank, which would throw the money of the masses into the hands of the classes for management.

Any dissension in the ranks of democracy the Senator minimized, declaring that Democrats might differ on matters of detail or merely moral policies, but they were shoulder to shoulder on the fundamental principles of the party.

Platform Adopted. At the adjourned meeting to-night the convention adopted, without dissent, a platform which generally repeats the principles of the party, dodges the State prohibition issue and denounces the Payne-Aldrich tariff as the most iniquitous measure ever foisted upon the people. Hundreds of cotton mills in the State were pointed out as evidence of Republican misrule, while a general court-martial was taken for advancement in the State along industrial and educational lines.

trying only what might be called a misdemeanor.

Governor Protections. At the time the court was ordered Governor Mann, in camp. There was much indignation among the officers of the First Virginia, who signed a petition to the Governor, asking him to appoint a general court-martial to be held for the trial of Carroll, so that the court might, if it thought proper, impose a punishment commensurate with the crime. The executive complied with this request, and the summary court was stopped by General Waterhouse after it had been in progress only a few minutes, and before material evidence had been produced.

Although annoyed at the Governor's action, the commanding officer consented to refer the matter to the War Department for its action. The officials there, evidently not wishing to reverse a decision of the kind, sent the case back for trial by summary court. This was proceeded with, despite the absence of every witness for the prosecution. Officers expressed the opinion last night that had Secretary of War Dickinson, who is a Southern man and an ex-Confederate, been in Washington the result might have been different, although it is doubtful if the paper would in any case have reached him.

A protest is probable, but the case itself, it is believed, is ended, except for a nominal punishment.

AROUND THE HOTELS

Richmond's hotels are so far enjoying an unusually good summer trade. Some of the hotel men expressed themselves as surprised at the number of visitors who find their way here, in spite of the hot weather. This, of course, does not refer to traveling salesmen, who come anyhow, and who find Richmond much cooler than most of the large cities.

Mr. Howard, Mr. Venable and Miss Venable were talking about the people from the towns and country places of the State. "This town is a natural Mecca," he said last night. "People are coming here, and they will keep it up. They know that here is the center of the life of the State, whether it be business, politics, or anything else which occupied human attention."

"Now, last summer our trade was splendid for the season. That was accounted for by the heat of the gubernatorial campaign. The headquarters of the candidates were here, and the supporters of the aspirants for the different offices were coming and going all the while."

As a result, with no campaign on this year we expected that it would be especially dull by contrast. But up to this time we have been pleasantly surprised. People are coming here, and they will keep it up. They know that here is the center of the life of the State, whether it be business, politics, or anything else which occupied human attention."

Paul McRae, member of the House of Delegates from Buckingham and Cumberland counties, was at the Park Hotel yesterday, on his way to Washington, where he goes on business. Mr. McRae is the only candidate for the State Senate from his district, formerly represented by Governor Mann. Senator John J. Owen has not as yet announced his intentions.

STORM SWEEPS GOLDSBORO. Baptist Church and Union Station

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Goldsboro, N. C., July 14.—Early this morning, while a severe electric storm was sweeping over this city, lightning struck the steeple of the First Baptist Church, damaging it very badly, and leaving it almost an entire wreck. The Union passenger station was also damaged by the lightning, and several people who were in the station when the building was struck were slightly dazed. For about an hour the entire city was flooded with water, the streets looking like small rivers. Farmers living in the country report very serious damage to their crops.

Stabbed by Negroes. When Charles Rawling, sixteen years old, of 302 Bowling Green Road, engaged in a row with negro boys last night, he got the worst of the argument. He was stabbed in the back with a pocketknife. Bicycle Officer Warner was dispatched from the First Police Station to investigate the case. Young Rawling told the officer that he did not know the name of the boy who assaulted him. The wound was not serious.
